Randy Hain is the founder and president of Serviam Partners, an Atlanta-based firm which offers executive coaching and leadership consulting services to corporate and non-profit clients all over the U.S. With a successful 30+ year career in senior leadership roles, corporate talent and executive search, he is a sought-after executive coach for senior leaders at some of the best-known companies in the U.S. who are seeking candid and expert guidance on how to overcome obstacles to their success or develop new leadership skills.

Randy is also an expert at onboarding and cultural assimilation for senior executives as well as coaching senior leadership teams to improve trust, alignment, collaboration and candid communication. Randy also offers consulting/coaching for companies, teams and individual business leaders looking to develop more authentic, trusting and effective business relationships both inside and outside their organizations. His deep expertise in business relationships is a true area of differentiation for him and Serviam Partners.

He is an active community leader and serves on the boards of the causes he cares about most. Randy has earned a reputation as a creative business partner and generous thought leader through his books, articles and speaking engagements.

“Working with Randy has been one of the most impactful development opportunities of my professional career. The level of insight and introspection that he helps you tap into is nothing short of exceptional.”

Kia Painter, EVP and Chief People Officer at Cox Communications

“I have worked with Randy over the last several years. I truly respect his holistic approach to learning and leadership development. Randy is a trusted executive coach and advisor. He has a unique talent for guiding team building and assisting leaders in developing high performance cultures. I recommend him to anyone looking for an honest, genuine and open executive coach or looking to accelerate learning for hi-potential executives.”
